7th Biennial ESE Conference 2023

Crisis! – The new normal for the financial system?

17 and 18 October 2023
in Berlin

Welcome Address

Stefan Blochwitz
Chairman of the
ESE Programme Council

Dear participants!

For some years now we seem to be living in a continuous state of crisis. The frequency and intensity of the challenges experienced seem to rise, leaving the financial system less time to recover and thus increasingly impacting the global economy.

How does the financial system cope with these challenges while additionally managing the digital as well as the green transformation? How can and did financial markets participants, supervisors and regulators respond and act? Which solutions are available and what are the supervisory areas we have to work on to strengthen the resilience of the financial system and to cope with this apparent mode of constant crisis?

In order to explore the dynamics and consequences of these developments, the European Supervisory Education Initiative (ESE) is bringing together senior supervisors, policy makers and industry representatives from Europe to discuss alternative approaches and to provide latest insights and perspectives.

We are looking forward to meeting you at this year`s conference!
